COLLYER, TREGO Co., Oct. 13.

REASONABLE.
The day of reckoning is coming on. Behold the gathering storm. Our rulers are from a Southern land, And they demand reform. From north to south the cry is heard, And claimants must obey Or leave their lands to better men, At a very early day.

Narrow escape.
Tried housekeepers.
Fall trade commencing.
More cattle arrive by rail.
Good demand for fresh beef.
A good time to invest in stock.
Sunday school workers wanted.
But little ground feed in market.
Mrs P. Gubbins is reported better.
Hotel dining capacity tested Tuesday morning.
The only person who succeeds in this country is he who willingly works at any honest labor.

Burton Mills returned to Collyer Tuesday, having enjoyed a lengthy visit with his parents at Hiawatha.
With high winds, smoky coal and dust penetrating every crack, the patience of housekeepers has been severely taxed the past few days.

Charles Norton and family remove this week to their homestead, five miles south. Hearty regrets are expressed, for they have proven most agreeable friends and neighbors.

To EXCHANGE—Fresh beef and mill products, including Graham flour and cornmeal, will be exchanged for wheat, corn, rye and other grain at Blackwell's mill, Collyer. 396-4f.

Mrs. J. C. Elliott is reported quite sick, being worse yesterday than when Rev. Elliott departed from home Sunday morning to preach here. The sickness arises from a severe cold taken.

William Hastings is up from Clay Center again. He arrived in Collyer Tuesday, and business in connection with the Holladay estate demands his presence at Oberlin, whither he went to-day.

Last Wednesday evening a farewell party was given at Mrs. J. D. Colby's, in Gove county, in honor of Mrs. Frank Colby, who expects to spend the winter with her husband at St. Louis, Mo.

The outside of V. Zavadsky's new building has turned a dark blue color under the influence of paint and brush manipulated by J. H. Siebert. The building adds much to that portion of town.

Oscar Maple has decided to accept his Chicago offer, and will leave as soon as relieved by some one to take his place. His pleasure loving spirit would scarcely brook the constant confinement incident to an agent's life.

Pierson & True unloaded four car-loads of cattle at the chute last Wednesday afternoon. They purchased them at Kansas City, and among the herd were many black cattle. All were driven to the firm's ranch some miles north.

The winds have driven the clouds to and fro across the heavens, but without any success in producing a rainfall. Two little sprinkles seemed to mock at our wants, and the farmer continues to haul and store fodder and hay, while he longs to be plowing for wheat and rye.

A very small little emigrant will accompany Mrs. Ingram and children when they return home, which will be in a short time. A little daughter was born to Mrs. Ingram October 24 at Tiblow, Kansas, where she and her children are visiting.

Ed. H. Philippi, wife and two "little fellows" arrived last Friday evening, and were met at the depot by some of their relatives. Their visit will extend through two weeks, for which their acquaintances as well as relatives are thankful, while wishing it might be longer.

The strength of the two Collyer baseball clubs was tested last Saturday on their grounds north of town. From the score of 42 to 14, one can see the second nine were badly beaten, and their defeat was made only more prominent by their being arrayed in full, bright colored uniforms.

Literature and music books sufficient to carry on the Sunday school for at least three months are now on hand and paid for, but a leader is lacking who is interested enough in the cause to come and take that responsibility. A live, earnest christian is wanted.

Prairie fires are not as numerous as might be expected from the condition of the grass and the fact that so many new settlers are here and daily arriving who are naturally ignorant of the dangers from a spark of fire or a lighted cigar dropped. Large ones raged to the southeast, southwest and north the past week.

It is now believed that George A. Sayre made extensive and lengthy preparations before taking his departure for parts unknown. Those who purchased, or traded for, his property have found it, and there is promise of some lawsuits as the result.

There is no let up to the passing of the camp wagons. Both eastward and westward they travel, the first direction leading to the land seeker's paradise or purgatory (that depends upon the results of the visit) the U. S. land office at Wa-Keeney. So long as the present bright weather continues, the tide of humanity will pour over in its westward flow.

W. L. Brown's second attempt to bore for water proved more successful than the first. Then the drop drill found rock at 45 feet which it could not penetrate.

and as the bore was but two inches in diameter it was necessary to begin again. The drill used by the second firm was one of six inches, and had no trouble in making its way downward. A depth of 109 feet was reached, 25 or 30 feet of which is filled with good water. The same firm recently worked to a depth of 200 feet in a well for Elmer Cole, on the north fork of the Saline river. Many feet of blue shale was passed through, but marked indications of a change of strata was shown in the last earth dumped.

Rev. J. C. Elliott filled his regular appointment last Sunday, but announced that as two other places desired to enter his circuit, he would be obliged to preach here but once, instead of twice, on Sundays, and put it to a vote of the congregation which they preferred, morning or evening service. Morning services were preferred, and will be held at the usual time and place. At the recent quarterly meeting the reports showed that Banner had raised a little over $23 toward the expenses of keeping up the circuit, while Collyer failed to report anything. Thinking perhaps it has been due to a lack of responsibility, Bro. Elliott will hereafter have a collection taken at each service and give all an opportunity to show their appreciation of religious services by contributing to their support.

HAPPY HOLLOW HAPPENINGS

SOUTH GRAHAM COUNTY, Oct. 13.
Wedding bells in the near future.
The health in this vicinity is good.

Windy! Windy! Can not be compared.
L. Dow Dickey is erecting a new stone dwelling.

A. A. Unruh is working at his trade in your city.

Irwin Olmstead is preparing to build a house on his farm.
G. A. Dorman returned from mill at Edmond on Monday.

J. H. Dorman expects to move his house the first of next week.
W. H. Sommerville has purchased a fine pony from F. C. Olmstead.

Miss Julia Casselberry, of your city, is spending two weeks on Happy Hollow again.

D. A. Dickey had the misfortune to have a hay stack blown over by one of our Kansas zephyrs.

G. H. Moseley met with a very narrow escape while hauling hay. He was thrown from the load of hay between the two horses.

John Johnson has a big crop of corn, which will go forty bushels to the acre. He will have about 2,000 bushels. How is that for south Graham?

School in district 9, taught by Nannie C. Lehman, has a vacation of two days while the district is finishing the school house, which will be very comfortable and durable.

WESTERN KANSAS.

The Apology Satisfactory.

Dear World:
You ask me, October 9, what in thunder vinci means.

I am happy to give you the information demanded. Vinci is in Latin the 24 person, present tense, imperative mode, active voice of the verb "vincire (verbum vincendi), to bind or tie, and means, consequently, bind or tie. This meaning it has in thunder and without thunder. Meteorological phenomena had in those early days no perceptible influence on the meaning of words. (Exception from the rule: "Milk" in thunder means "sour milk," and does so in Latin.) The young man who during my absence got that bit of Latin in the Index is a great punster, and it is charitably to be supposed that he meant to intimate that the B. B. contest came out a "tie," kind of a mortal tie, you know. A Latin pun is not pun-able, and that saves him. If he had been a common don't-put-your-candle-under-a-bushel scribbler, he would have said "vinci" to signify an easy victory in behalf of the Wa-Keeney boys.

Latin is just as common down our way as any other language, and is used recklessly; and it, perhaps, in the future you, dear World, or your readers should want some further lingual instruction, just let us know, and we will make it out to you at the rate of one dollar a lesson.

Yours truly,

EDITOR TARGEMAN INDEX, A. M.

Mr. Krarup writes well. He admits that the Index should have said vinci, instead of "vinci." This was the point upon which we pronounced criticism. The gentleman's apology is, therefore, perfectly satisfactory.

We also admire Mr. Krarup's exhibit of the knowledge of Latin in the country just beyond the eastern border of Trego county. It reflects a slight of progress within the past few weeks which we were sort of semi-clannish to hear all at once.

Mr. Krarup also shows a commendable desire to be heard through the whole World. He is a Democrat. It occurs to us that P. M. (of Trego) would suit him better now than "A. M." We cheerfully recommend him for the position.

—H. S. Fish, of the LaCrosse Citizen, dropped in this morning to say "how do."

—J. E. Brucha, of Excalibur, Iowa, is visiting his parents this week.

—Instead of Kelly & Walker, it now reads: The Kelly Hardware & Implement Company.

—Mrs. Lord, the mother of Mrs. Caddick, is paying her a visit. Mrs. Lord lives in Pennsylvania.

—Mrs. Geo. Crowther, of St. Joseph, Missouri, is visiting her niece, Mrs. Geo. Brooks, west of town.

—M. D. Hollister, Esq., started this morning to Quincy, Ill., where he will meet his family. They will accompany him home.

—Mrs. Scoville, mother of Mrs. F. H. Conger, started, last evening, to San Francisco, where she expects to spend the winter. She expects to stop a week in Denver to visit A. E. Warren's family and other friends. As about our nearest neighbor, Mrs. Scoville's genial smiles and kind deeds will be missed by the family of the writer.

—We are requested to announce that next Saturday evening, October 23, between the hours of 8 and 10 P. M., there will be held in Grand Army Hall a meeting of ladies to take steps to organize a Woman's Relief Corps in Wa-Keeney. The Corps, like all other orders of this class, is to be auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic. We hope to hear of a large attendance.

$87.00
The Methodists, at their festival in the new church, Wednesday evening, realized the above receipts.
Everything for the supper had been donated. The amount cleared, therefore, was $87.

Supper and Dance.

A supper and dance will be given by the Catholic church in Opera Hall, Wa-Keeney, Wednesday night, October 20, 1896.
No pains will be spared to render the affair a success.

Ogallah Literary Union.
OGALLAH, KAN., Oct. 13, 1896.

To the Editor of the World:
Last Friday evening the Ogallah Literary Union met and was organized.

The following named officers were elected for a term of three months:
President, L. S. Witmer; vice-president, C. L. Howe; secretary, Norah Yetter; treasurer, C. A. Hoar; program committee, J. S. Smith and C. L. Howe; editor, Berenice Yetter.

The O. L. U. will hold their next meeting October 15. All are cordially invited to attend.

DELAIED,
But Surely Coming.

Tank Kee writes that he will surely be here Oct. 19, and give six lectures, a matinee and two exhibitions of his collection of Chinese gods, Chinese money, dress, shoes, tools, etc., etc.

NINE ENTERTAINMENTS FOR ONLY TWO DOLLARS.

Single tickets for one entertainment, forty cents.

Reserved seats, fifty cents.
See small bills next week. These lectures are for the benefit of the new church building. We respectfully solicit your patronage.

Tank Kee has been lecturing to large audiences, and by earnest request of citizens in Clinton, Mo., he has repeated some of his lectures. This is why he has been delayed.

Don't you nor you fail to hear him, and see his great exhibitions.
